HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needed for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfillment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE FOR THE WHISKERS

Will change the beard to a natural brown, or black, as desired. It produces a permanent color that will not wash away. Consisting of a single preparation, it is applied without trouble.

NOTICE.

IT having been asserted that I am preparing to move to the country and give up my interest in the Sewing Machine business, I take this method of announcing to my friends and the public that there is not a word of truth in it except that I will move my family to the country but will continue to sell the OLD RELI-ABLE SINGER at the same place, second street, opposite postoffice, and run my wagons in the country as heretofore. Competitors please notice the above. I am thankful to the public for the large patronage I have received for the past nine years, and respectfully solicit a share in the future.

Appointments in the German Army.

It is only exceptionally and as a reward for distinguished bravery in action that German non-commissioned officers are promoted officers. Appointments of this kind are so rare that it may be laid down as a rule that a non-commissioned officer cannot hope to receive a commission. He is content with his position, and is loo'ed up to by the mass of the people. Such is not the case, however, with the Porte-Epee-Fahrer.
This category of non-commissioned officers is entirely distinct from the others. The Porte-Epee-Fahrer are, in fact, all aspirant officers, and the rank that they hold is the first step that all must take who desire to enter the corps of officers of the German army. This grade is conferred, in proportion to the number of vacancies, on young men who have been six months in active service, who can produce a certificate of excellence in studies from certain specified seats of public instruction, or who have passed successfully a prescribed examination before a military commission sitting at Berlin. In order to be admitted to this examination an applicant must be either a cadet or must have enlisted as an avantagur; that is, an aspirant to the position of an officer, and as a claimant, by this title, to the enjoyment of certain privileges attaching to this particular condition. These privileges vary according to the corps: a certain latitude is allowed to the colonels in the treatment of the avantagurs, who are in principle only enlisted men. In Germany the term Cadet is applied to a student at the military schools that have been established to insure the filling of vacancies among the officers of the army. These schools are nine in number, of which seven are in Prussia, one at Dresden, for the Saxon army, and one at Munich for the Bavarian army. Of the seven Prussian schools, six are only primary; they do not finish the education of their scholars, who, at fifteen years of age are all sent to the principal school established at Liechten-feld. The Cadet schools all receive the pupils at ten years of age and upward; the latter can enter only after an examination whose scope varies with the age of the applicant. Although these schools have a military organization, the time spent there is not counted as effective service; consequently, at the expiration of the required number of years of study, the cadets are distributed among the regiments of the different arms of the service, where they commence by serving six months as enlisted men under the same conditions as the avantagurs.
Once that they have been appointed Porte-Epee-Fahrer, the aspirant officers, whether Cadets or avantagurs, must pass through one of the war schools (Kriegsschulen) of the German Empire in order to be promoted officers. It is only after five months' service at least with the rank of ensign porte-epee, and, consequently, after eleven months of active service that they can be sent to the war schools.
There are nine of these schools; the course of studies is from nine to ten months. On leaving the students go to Berlin to undergo before the Military Commission sitting in that city a new examination that decides their fitness for the grade of Second Lieutenant.
But before promotion they must stand another test; they must be accepted by the corps of officers they desire to join.
In each regiment the officers assembled, with the Colonel presiding, decide upon the suitability of the candidate as regards character, honor, social standing, etc. Finally, for the special branches, artillery or engineers, officers must pass through the school of application at Berlin, where the duration of the course is two years. —The United Service.

Searching for Papa.

A lady in the street met a little girl between two and three years old, evidently lost, and crying bitterly. The lady took the baby's hand and asked where she was going.

"Down to find my papa," was the sobbing reply.

"What is your papa's name?" asked the lady.

"His name is papa."

"Put what is his other name? What does your mamma call him?"

"She calls him papa," persisted the little creature.

The lady then tried to lead her along.
"You had better come with me. I guss you came this way?"

"Yes, but I don't want to go back. I want to find my papa," replied the little girl, crying afresh, as if her heart would break.

"What do you want of your papa?" asked the lady.

"I want to kiss him."

Just at this time a sister of the child, who had been searching for her, came along and took possession of the little runaway. From inquiry it appeared that the little one's papa, whom she was so earnestly seeking, had recently died, and she, tired of waiting for him to come home, had gone out to find him. —

HON. MARSHALL JEWELL, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, died at Hartford, Connecticut, on the 10th, inst.

The name of W. W. White has been sent to the Senate by the President for confirmation as United States Judge for the Southern District of Ohio.

THERE were two hundred and seventy-five business failures in the United States and Canada last week. Of these seventy-eight were in the Southern States.

A CIRCULAR has been sent to each Episcopal parish in Kentucky asking for subscriptions to establish an Episcopal high school in the State at some point yet to be selected.

ALL of the Senatorial elections for the present year have now been held, and finished up, except in Michigan and New Hampshire. A contest is now in progress in the former State, and in the latter the election will not be held until June, although Mr. Rollins's term ends on the fourth proximo.

Evidence brought out against the men charged with the murder of Lord Cavendish and Secretary Burke continues to bear very heavily against those under arrest. One after another of the prisoners are being identified, and mysterious impiments of death are being unearthed. So far, the facts indicate that the police are doing thorough and correct work.

THE National Senate, Saturday, after a brief executive session, took up the Tariff Bill, and amended the clause relating to bar iron and stones. Asphaltum, bitumen, books and jute bolls were put on the free list. A message received from the President in regard to the invasion of the Indian reservations. In the House the Tariff Bill was amended in committee as to the clause respecting steel rails and the clause relating to armor-plate was struck out. The Legislative Appropriation Bill was read, but its consideration was stopped by the failure of a quorum.

The Truth About the Ashland Affair.

Louisville Commercial.
"To-day I had a talk with Mr. John Gallagher, of Catlettsburg, who was one of the mob that participated in the Ashland affair of November last. Gallagher was twice wounded in that fight and said to me:

"There were about thirty-five of us on the ferry-boat, equally divided between men and boys, the larger portion of whom came from off the train that went to Catlettsburg. The Captain of the ferryboat had hold of the wheel and launched out into the river without any persuasion upon the part of any of us. We were about seventy-five yards from the Granite State when we opened fire on the troops, firing some eight or ten shots, when the military returned the fire and the balls fell about us like hail stones. I was standing within a few feet of the front railing, and when the first volley was fired, I fell flat upon my face on the floor, being wounded twice. I remained still until the firing was over, the ferry-boat being disabled and drifting down toward the docks; the steam escaped and led us all to believe she was sinking. Skiffs were sent out to us from the banks, into one of which I got in and came ashore. No one was killed on the ferry boat, but six were wounded, one of whom died afterward, he being shot in the hip. We were all very badly scared. I think every one on the ferry-boat was armed—some with pistols and some had guns; but we really had no idea what we were doing, being so badly scared. When the mob first went to Catlettsburg, we were told that all we had to do was to demand Neal and Craft and the troops would give them up. When our leaders came back from the conference with Major Allen and told us we had to fight for the prisoners, there was no disposition to fight; the mob did not want them that bad. One of our leaders said at the depot to us, 'Boys, they are down there, but will have to fight before we get them. All you who will go after Neal and Craft anyhow step out here together.' About twenty-five stepped out, and after a brief talk it was agreed to return to Ashland. There were about two hundred and fifty in the mob."

NEWS BREVITIES.

A blizzard story from the Northwest: A man went for a bucket of water and spilled a little while returning to the house. He put one foot on the wet spot, and before he could take another step he was frozen to the ground. He had to leave his boot behind and hop to the house.

The Chicago newspapers tell of a loud altercation in a corridor of the Sherman House between Edwin F. Thorne, the actor, and Jim Crawford, a gambler, ending in a vociferous announcement to the crowd by Crawford that Thorne had borrowed $200 of his faro bank and refused to repay.

As an article for the toilet, Ayer's Hair Vigor stands unrivalled. It cleanses the scalp and preserves it from scurf and dandruff, cures itching and humors, restores faded or gray hair to its original dark color and promotes its growth.

The disfiguring eruptions on the face, the sunken eye, the pallid complexion, indicate that there is something wrong going on within. Expel the lurking foe to health. Ayer's Sarsaparilla was devised for that purpose; and does it.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain. It is effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.
ST. ALBANS, VT., JAN., 29, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory. Indeed, three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a rib-bone was running, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.
Respectfully yours,
CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Keosauqua Falls, Vermont. 127d.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Elder J. B. Briney, the Covington papers say, has rented the handsome residence of the late Mrs. Laura L. Grant, in that city.

Miss Mary Wallace, of Lexington, Miss Maria Wilson, of Mayslick, and Miss Lu-tie Owens, of Lewisburg, are visiting Miss Mary Melvaine, of Charleston Bottom.

The following is from the Macon, Ga., Graphic, of the 7th inst:

To day about one o'clock, Mrs. S. F. Gibson died at the boarding house of Mrs. Mays, on Mulberry street, opposite the Methodist church.
She had been sick only about two days and her death was very unexpected. She was attacked with something like congestion of the brain. Mrs. Gibson had been the organist of the Baptist church the past month. She presided at the organ last Sunday during the services held at the court house. Mrs. Gibson was the mother of Mr. Lee Ward, a young gentleman well-known in Macon. She was a most refined and highly educated lady.

Mrs. Gibson was a native of this city and the daughter of Col. Richard and Mrs.
Eliza Leo. She was about forty years of age and had been a resident of Macon for the last twelve months. She previously lived in Paris, France. The remains were taken to Charleston, South Carolina, for interment.

The River.

The river came to a stand on Saturday but began rising again in the afternoon and continued to swell all day Sunday, and this morning is about fifteen inches higher than it was at dark last night. It is rising very slowly to-day and will probably be at stand again before night. The water is about one foot below the marks of 1847, which are eight inches below those of 1832, the greatest floods ever known in the Ohio Valley.

A considerable part of Chester is submerged and many residents have been driven from their houses and obliged to seek quarters elsewhere. The same is true of East Maysville, especially in the district lying between Second and Third streets. A rise of a few inches will prevent communication with that ward except by boats. The Limestone Flour Mills, the Kentucky Planing Mill, W. B. Mathews & Co's Saw Mills and J. H. Hall & Co's Plow Factory have all been stopped on account of the encroachment of the flood. A large quantity of stacked lumber belonging to W. B. Mathews & Co., is afloat in the backwater.

T. W. Wheatley & Co's distillery and the bonded warehouse attached are entirely surrounded by water and in a dangerous condition. The roof of the latter was lifted from its position. The building contained 1500 barrels of whisky which are valued at $90,000. The tax on this whisky is about $54,000. A considerable part of it was adrift in the backwater to-day.

Nearly all of the business houses on Front street have been flooded and the occupants of a number of them compelled to move out.

Robinson & Co's Flour Mill, the Coal Elevators, A. T. Cox's Plow Factory, T.
K. Ball & Co's Foundry and other manufacturing establishment upon which the waters have encroached have been obliged to discontinue work.

Messrs. Pearce Bro's who had a large quantity of wheat stored in one of the flooded warehouses on Wall street, will sustain a loss of about $3,000. There has been much other damage but at this time it is impossible to make a correct estimate of the amount.

COUNTY POINTS.

MILLWOOD.

Wm. List is building a residence on his land near the farm of Abner Ford.

Our free school was out Friday. Mr. Calvert will teach another five months. Our school building needs painting. You good trustees who are always ready for something to do or say, see that it is painted immediately.

Dr. Dougherty butchered a fine extra beef Thursday.

Mr. Wm. Calvert purchased the Campbell property in Helena. Price not known. He will move in March.

Moving time has begun.
The young man can stand on our corners and see his future prospects this time of the year.

S. G. Wood goes to Maysville every Tuesday.
Grinding at Henry Ford's mill every Saturday.

GERMANTOWN.

The assessor was around to see our citizens last week.

E. Williams has returned from the city. He disposed of twenty bushels of tobacco at prices ranging from three to nine cents. One crop of tobacco was delivered here last Friday to Jake Walton at $12 and $1.

Several of our citizens are in Lexington this week, witnesses at Jake Williams' trial.

The letter box didn't hold the valentines Wednesday, so Pete had to get a basket.

Eph Monahan and J. Jett found an old shoe that balanced the beam to eight pounds. It is supposed to be one that John Stuffle left in that locality. U. R. SMILING.

TOLLESDORO.

A. D. Politt prized and shipped four hogsheads of tobacco this week.

The public school closes next week.

J. L. Ford, of Cabin Creek, has moved to Fayette.

E. C. Hamer, of Portsmouth was in town late and sold some goods to our merchants.

James Baugh will build a new house soon at this place.

S. P. DeAtley has sold his crop of tobacco at $13, per hundred. His tobacco was raised on mountain land which sells at about $10 per acre.

B. D. Politt is filling a number of lumber bills at his lumber yard, one mile and a half from this place on the turnpike leading to Vanceburg. Parties wanting lumber would do well to send him their orders.

A Lawful Excuse.

Arkansaw Traveller.

"Why didn't you attend my wife's funeral?" said an angry man, approaching an acquaintance. "When your wife was buried I was there, and now, sir, as you did not return the favor, I'm going to whale you until you can't stand up. People have been slighting me long enough and blamed if I'm going to stand it any longer."

"Hold on my friend; I know that you attended my wife's funeral, and I know that it was my duty to exchange courtesies, but there was a good reason why I was not present."

"Make a satisfactory explanation, or I'll jolt you with an ungentle hand?"

"The truth is, I owe that undertaker, and I knew that if he saw me he'd bone me for the money."

"Your excuse is accepted. I owe the fellow myself and am keeping out of his way. There is a new saloon around here.

Let's go and stand off the bartender."

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

—A Florida youth has discovered that strong, soft, flexible rope can be made from the fiber of the common cocklebur bush.

—The deepest mine in the world, according to Prof. H. Hofer, is the Przibram silver mine in Bohemia. The lowest depth 3,300 feet below the surface.

—A progressive Atlanta (Ga.) man claims to have invented a milk pail that is kept in motion by a spring, and when he gets through milking a cow the milk has been churned into delicious butter.

—Salting, M. L. Fourmont asserts, is not necessarily fatal to trichinae imbedded in meat. These parasites may live in salt provisions for fifteen months. Salting, indeed, often serves to preserve the vitality of trichinae, as it protects them to some extent from the destructive influence of heat.

—A needle manufactory has been established at Brooklyn, and is the only one in the country, all needles hitherto having come from Europe. They are to be made by machinery, which will be the first attempt of the kind. The manufacture has been entirely by hand and requires many operations; the conversion of the wire into rough needles requires twenty; the tempering and annealing nine; polishing five, which are repeated seven or eight times, and sorting five. The Brooklyn enterprise will, it is to be hoped, prove a success.—Brooklyn Eagle.

—Mr. James B. Smith, of Hackensack, N. J., has invented and patented an improved signal for railroad crossings, tunnels, and dangerous places, which is declared to be cheap, durable, and incapable of disarrangement. A bowed spring is placed near the rails, so that the wheels of the passing train operate upon it, and by means of a lever and wire attachment work a gong bell and signal which are placed at the required distance ahead on the track. The signals remain exposed until the trains have passed, and by means of another spring are restored to place.—Christian Union.

—A new building material called "fossil coral," has been discovered in a small island in the Bay of Suva, Fiji. When it is first removed it is soft and easily cut into square blocks or any other desired shape, but when it is exposed to the open air for some time it grows very hard and assumes some of the characteristics of fire-brick. What the actual origin of this substance may have been is uncertain and will form an interesting problem for geologists. At any rate it has been found so useful for building purposes that the Fijian Government have given a large order for cubes of it.

The Homes of California Millionaires.

The suburban homes of the railroad and bonanza kings of San Francisco are chiefly in the San Jose Valley, which extends south from the city, not far from the coast, but separated from it by a range of hills. The showy places are scattered along the railroad for a distance of forty miles. That of D. O. Mills, who is no longer a Californian, except for a few months of the year, is called Millbrae. The house is like a palace in size and external ornamentation, but is built of wood, as are all the others in the valley, on account of the dread of earthquakes. Further along is Belmont, where Kalston, the unfortunate manager of the Bank of California, used to entertain strangers and friends alike with lavish hospitality. The property is in the hands of a receiver. At Menlo Park, thirty miles from town, are a dozen or so of very expensive summer houses. The newest and most wonderful is that of Flood, of Comstock Lode celebrity. It appears in the distance like a magnificent white marble pile of vast proportions and ornate architecture, but proves, on a nearer view, to be painted wood. It stands in beautiful grounds, and is approached by a winding avenue lined with exquisite oaks. Another grand place at Menlo cost the late banker Latham a million, but cannot now be sold for the $200,000 mortgage that rests on it. Ex-Governor Stanford's estate embraces 3,000 acres, much of which is used for stock-breeding.—N. Y. Sun.
